CARATTERISTICHE DELLE VARIE QUALITÀ DI CUIOIO E CUIOETTO

CUIOIO

- CUIOIO I° QUALITÀ (pieno fiore)

In questo caso la superficie del cuoio non viene sottoposta a nessun trattamento che possa modificare le sue caratteristiche.

Si possono vedere: pori, grinze, piccoli graffi ed altre imperfezioni naturali.

Lo spessore è di circa 2,8 - 3 mm. Il cuoio viene sottoposto ad un trattamento che lo rende incombustibile ed anche la superficie è trattata contro macchie e graffi (di lieve entità).

- CUIOIO II° QUALITÀ (fiore corretto)

È lo stesso cuoio di quello di I° qualità; viene smerigliato in superficie in modo da eliminare le imperfezioni, poi viene tinto e stampato con un disegno che riproduce la grana del cuoio in modo artificiale.

Ha uno spessore è di circa 2,6 - 2,7 mm. È trattato in modo da essere incombustibile e protetto contro macchie e graffi (di lieve entità).

- CUIOETTO EXTRA E CUIOETTO

È uno spaccato del cuoio (la parte inferiore), lo spessore è di circa 1,8 - 2 mm. La superficie è rifinita con verniciatura e stampa con piccola grana.

PELLE

Le pelli usate sono pelli trattate in modo specifico per il settore dell'arredamento, hanno buone caratteristiche di resistenza allo sfregamento, alle macchie ed all'esposizione alla luce.

La presenza di graffi, rughe e piccoli difetti sono la garanzia della naturalezza del prodotto.

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE DIFFERENT QUALITIES OF LEATHER

HIDE

- I° QUALITY LEATHER (full grain)

In this case the grain of the leather is full and it doesn't undergo any treatment which could modify its features. You can see its pores, wrinkles, small scratches and other natural imperfections. It is about 2,8 - 3 mm thick.

The leather undergoes a treatment which makes it fireproof and also the surface is treated against stains and scratches (of slight extent).

- II° QUALITY LEATHER (printed grain)

It is the same leather as the 1st quality one but it has little visible defects to be classified in that way. It undergoes, therefore, a surface fluffing which eliminates its imperfections, then it is dyed and finally, is printed with a design which reproduces the grain of the leather artificially. It is about 2,6 - 2,7 mm thick.

The leather undergoes a treatment which makes it fireproof and the surface is treated against stains and scratches (of slight extent).

- CUIOETTO

It is a splitted leather (the bottom part), the cuoietto is about 1,8 - 2 mm thick. The finishing of the surface is painted and printed with a small grain.

LEATHER

The used hides are treated in a specific way for furniture trade; they resist very well to rubbing, to spots, to sun exposition. The presence of scratches, wrinkles and small faults, is the evidence of the of the naturalness of our products.
